About the Museum:

The Oregon Coast Military Museum is an Oregon-based non-profit organization dedicated to educating the public about our military members, both past and present. By utilizing donated collections from local Veterans and their families, the Museum works to preserve and display the experiences of past and present service members. OCMM Strives to encourage our current and future generations to remember the sacrifices made by those in uniform during times of war and peace. Acting as a repository for stories, pictures, documents, books and physical artifacts, the Museum preserves over 15,000 items within the collection.
